Overnight Rolling Closures, Lane Closure on I-376 Eastbound to Begin July 23

PITTSBURGH – The Department of Public Works announced today that there will be 15-minute rolling closures and the right lane will be closed on I-376 Parkway East outbound between the Grant Street on-ramp and the Philip Murray (South Tenth Street) Bridge in the City of Pittsburgh between 10 p.m. and 6 a.m. from Tuesday, July 23, 2019 to Saturday, July 27. The parkway, which is maintained by PennDOT, will still be able to accommodate oversized loads.

The closures are required to remove the decking and cables of the work platform under the Philip Murray (South Tenth Street) Bridge as part of a $21 million bridge rehabilitation project being conducted by the American Bridge Company of Coraopolis and done in conjunction with funding from the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania and the Federal Highway Administration.

The bridge’s inbound shoulder and sidewalk are currently closed for miscellaneous painting, work on the bridge girder, milling of the bituminous roadway to make repairs to the steel curb face, and removal of the underdeck platform. That closure is expected to last until September.
