Start of Closure on Nadine Road in Penn Hills Delayed Until August 10

PITTSBURGH – The Department of Public Works announced today that work on part of Nadine Road in Penn Hills has been delayed due to nearby utility work that remains unfinished. The closure, on part of Nadine near Lincoln Road, is now expected to begin at 7 a.m. on Monday, August 10, 2020, and is projected to last at least two weeks. The restriction is necessary for construction of a support wall.

The ongoing Nadine Road will also require another closure immediately following completion of the support wall near Lincoln Road to construct a second support wall near Allegheny River Boulevard (Route 130). That closure is also expected to last at least two weeks.

Traffic for both closures will be detoured using Allegheny River Boulevard (Route 130), Sandy Creek Road (Route 130), Verona Road, and Lincoln Road. Residents living on Nadine Road will have access to their homes at all times.

After the second support wall is constructed, Nadine Road will be paved between Allegheny River Boulevard (Route 130) and Lincoln Road, which will require short stoppages in work zones. Flaggers will be used to control traffic.

The overall project, which began on February 28, 2020, also has included removal of a pipe restricting water flow from a box culvert, relining of a stream, roadway base repairs, and installation of signage.

The work is being done by Northeast Paving, a division of Eurovia Atlantic Coast, LLC, of Pittsburgh, as part of the $10.7 million 2019 Capital Roads contract.
