Tips for Safer Use

> Start Low, Go Slow.

If you're using substances, start with a small amount and use it slowly to reduce the risk of overdose.

> Always Carry Naloxone & Never Use Alone.

You can't use naloxone on yourself if you experience an overdose. If you choose to use substances, make sure someone nearby knows. If they see signs of an overdose, they should administer naloxone and call 911.

Test strips and naloxone are available for organization and individual request.
